Understanding WBL

WBL is:
• Driven by student-identified career interests
• A meaningful work experience in an integrated community-based workplace
• A range of workplace opportunities
• Students engaging in real work activities

WBL is not:
• Placing students in school settings that do not align with their interests and preferences
• Working in settings solely comprising students with disabilities
• An isolated experience that is disconnected from the student’s overall transition goals
• Students placed in sites without assessment or evaluations

SUCCESS

what it really looks like
The Ongoing Nature of Career Development

Self-Awareness

- Career Exploration
- Living, Learning, and Earning as an Adult
- Discrepancy Analysis
- Preparation
- Decision-Making
Ways to Support the Career Development Process

- Exploring a range of career options
- Investigating online career tools and resources
- Encouraging students to explore multiple pathways
- Discovering career exploration activities
- Instruction in the CDOS Learning Standards
- Having high expectations
- Networking to find exploration and/or employment opportunities

Family and School Support Provided to the Student
The Student and Family Role in Preparation and Planning
Responsibilities of the Student

- Perform job responsibilities
- Communicate needs and suggest support strategies, practice self-advocacy skills
- Adhere to job workplace guidelines and procedures
- Comply with expectations for job performance, behavior, and social interactions
- Show respect, be responsible, and follow through on commitments
- Learn as much as possible about the work environment and the job
- Obtain working papers and personal documentation

(Adapted from the NYS WBL Manual)
Maintaining Personal Documentation

Students should keep copies of:

- Evaluations
- Job coach narratives
- Daily activities
- Applications
- Referral sheets
- Awards

- Job experience sheets for their portfolio
- W-2 form (or tax statement)
- Working papers (if applicable)
- Timesheets
- Supervisors contact information for a future reference

(Adapted from the NYS WBL Manual)
How Families Can Support Students

- Help student communicate needs for support by practicing self-advocacy skills
- Communicate with student and school on a regular basis
- Provide permission for students who may be off campus and/or performing work during the school day
- Use your knowledge of the student’s strengths, interests, and needs within the transition assessment process that informs the development of the IEP and WBL options
- Explore WBL options with the student
- Connect with the school regarding cultural beliefs and background and how it may impact WBL experiences
- Assist student in obtaining working papers and other documentation, as needed
Family Involvement in Preparation and Planning

Families may:

• Bring the student along to visit them at their jobs
• Give tasks and household chores to do at home
• Support the student in pursuit of volunteer opportunities (this may support the student’s employability skills)
• Help the student decide what type of job and work environment interests them
• Talk to the student about their dreams to identify areas of interest and include them in decisions about planning for work experiences
• Support the student in developing self-determination skills
• Assist the student in obtaining working papers and other required documentation

(Adapted from Luecking, 2020)
Assist Student in Obtaining Working Papers

• Students under 18 must have working papers before they start paid employment
• Applications can be obtained from school
• The parent/guardian must sign the application

Student will also need to gather:
- Proof of age (birth certificate, driver’s license, state-issued photo ID, school record, or passport)
- A written statement from a doctor, nurse practitioner, or physician assistant that the student is physically fit to work

• Application is then returned to the school in return for the appropriate working papers
Consider Reviewing the Importance of Disability Disclosure with Student

It helps to disclose disability when it:

• Is necessary to receive legally available accommodations
• Enables support for better workplace performance
• Allows additional accommodations when job duties or supervisors change
• Improves self-advocacy skills
• Promotes comfortable interactions with coworkers when they understand disability

(Adapted from Luecking, 2020) Disability 411
The Student and Family Role in Job Search and Retention
Ideas for Career Exploration

• Inform planning tools
  - Meet with the school regarding the student’s IEP
  - Assist with the assessment of the student’s strengths, interests, and needs

• Seek multiple work experiences
  - Assist in finding volunteer experiences at an earlier age

• Use personal networks
  - Connect with family, friends, coworkers, and neighbors to find such positions
Build Work Skills at Home

• Families are often the first, most knowledgeable, and most consistent “case manager” students with disabilities have.

• Families possess valuable information about a student’s strengths, interests, and needs.

Families can work with the student on:
  - Appropriate interactions
  - Maintaining personal appearance
  - Responsibility
  - Problem-solving
  - Teamwork
  - Taking work direction
  - Self-determination
How Can I Help with Finding Employment?

Take a few minutes to complete your WBL network handout:

1. What contacts do I already have? (consider potential business, employer, family, friend, coworker, and neighbor contacts)

2. Are there resources within the community that my child or I can access that support WBL experiences?

3. How else can I increase the variety of WBL options for my child?
Support Success in the Workplace

Once a student finds a job, families can play an important role in helping the student understand, keep, and grow in the job by:

• Discussing transportation
• Understanding the role of benefits and supports
• Identifying challenging situations at the worksite
• Discussing money management/financial literacy skills
• Maintaining high expectations
WBL Timeframe for Students and Families

Before
- Discuss career interests and accommodations with the school
- Make sure the student’s career interests are considered in the IEP
- Read and discuss the consent forms and WBL agreement with the teacher before signing

During
- Discuss issues and achievements that happened on the job daily
- Share career-related insights and ideas with the school
- Keep track of the learning objectives and when each objective is mastered

After
- Complete and discuss the WBL evaluation and next steps with the teacher and workplace supervisor
- Add this experience and any skills mastered into the student’s NYS Employability Profile
- Present this experience and recommended next steps at the Committee on Special Education (CSE) meeting
